Harvard College is an academic and residential community devoted to learning and the creation of knowledge. We – the academic community of Harvard College, including the faculty and students – view integrity as the basis for intellectual discovery, artistic creating, independent scholarship, and meaningful collaboration. We thus hold honesty – in the representation of our work and in our interactions with teachers, advisers, peers, and students – as the foundation of our community. You can learn more about the Honor Code at <https://honor.fas.harvard.edu>.

Standardized Testing: We ordinarily require all transfer applicants to submit ACT or SAT scores. We will consider 2022-2026 transfer applications without standardized testing. If you have taken these tests, we strongly recommend that you submit your scores (self-reported scores are acceptable). If you have previously applied to Harvard, we will have access to your prior scores even if you do not report them on your current transfer application.

For students outside of the United States: I am aware of the information about how Harvard College uses sensitive personal data in the admissions process. By submitting my application, I consent to Harvard's processing sensitive personal data about me in order to evaluate my application for admission and my eligibility for financial aid, if applicable. (For more information, please visit: <https://college.harvard.edu/admissions/apply/international-applicants/consent-regarding-sensitive-personal-data>.)

Third Party Access to Application Materials: Please be aware that Harvard, like most schools, provides application materials and information to outside companies who help Harvard collect, review and process data for applications. Those companies also provide materials and information to us. Examples of those companies include testing organizations, transcript request services, portfolio submission services, and services that review materials for plagiarism, in addition to application processors. We also provide application information to alumni who interview applicants.
